Kheper Games, Inc. Launches Date Nights Personal Questions Game

Kheper Games, Inc. is proud to release its newest couple's game, Date Nights Personal Questions.

Date Nights Personal Questions is a game with 552 questions that spark conversations between two people who are on a date together. Players take turns rolling the die and asking each other personal questions from the game cards, which hold 8 questions each. The fun and intrigue of the questions allow the couple to have interesting dates and to get to know each other better.

This game is also great for VIRTUAL DATES. Even after Covid health concerns dissipate, this game is a great tool for any stage in a relationship and can be used via video encounters. It also works for ANY COUPLE.

“Couples are more and more expanding the variety they seek in our line during this pandemic” explains CEO Brian Pellham. “We saw a massive increase in the popularity of our line in 2020 and continue to see the same in 2021. We're thrilled that we can continue to help couples stay home and stay safe and have amazing dates with each other during these troubling times. This game also will help people learn to get used to going out on live dates again as restrictions ease up.”
