Kheper, Inc. Expands Holiday Line to Include Four New Edible Pasty Styles

Kheper, Inc. is excited to announce that they are expanding their line of holiday items for Christmas to include four additional holiday pasty flavors.

Now included are options that men can wear as well as a gender fluid option. Reindeer Pasty is the male version (that covers his penis) of their popular Reindeer Pasties for women. It is also cinnamon flavored. There are two wildberry options for Mistletoe Pasties and Mistletoe Pasty. The first is a set of two meant as nipple treats, and the latter one can be placed wherever you want your lover to kiss below and to lick. Finally, Gift Box Pasties are winter fruit-flavored and also meant to be nipple treats.

Edible pasties are intended primarily as nipple coverings and are meant to be licked vs. eaten. The printing is on rice paper and they peel off their backings and can then be placed directly on the skin. Kheper does recommend though that you moisten the back of the pasties before placing them to ensure they solidly stick.

“We were so amazed at how well our expanded line of seven holiday pasties have performed last year that we had to expand the line even further.” Explains CEO Brian Pellham. “They’re cute, fun, and flavorful. We always make certain that our candies and gums are as delicious as they are attractive. And now any gender or couple can find the pasties that are right for them.”
